‘Vetter’s Letter

August 2014

From the Val Office

Hello Corvette Enthusiasts,

According to General Motors, Corvette sales are up 212% year to date over 2013’s figures. Through June of 2014, 17,744 Corvettes were sold, compared to 17,291 for the entire 2013 year. More Corvettes were sold in the first 6 months of 2014 than all 12 months of 2013. Congratulations to all you lucky C7 owners!

August is a very busy month with AACC activities. At our first meeting in August, Wednesday the 13th, we will have the election of Officers and Board of Directors. This is a very important meeting. Please plan on attending and cast your vote. On Sunday, August 17th we celebrate AACC’s 45th Anniversary at our annual picnic. This year’s picnic will again be at Bicentennial Park in East Allen Township, but Grumpy’s Bar-B-Que will cater. Late August is the 2014 Corvette Caravan to NCM’s 20th Anniversary Celebration. Please talk with Marty and Laura Hegyi, as they are taking the lead with this event.

Things stay busy as we look ahead into September with our road rallye (9/13), autocross (9/20) and Fiberglass & Steel All-Chevy Show (9/21).

Whatever keeps you going, have fun and save the wave!

Be safe & be well.

Jeff Mohring

In July, Len Feinberg shared his first hand benefits of Rock Guard films. This precision die-cut clear film protects painted surfaces from damage. The film is applied primarily to the nose, front quarters, hood and mirrors and is warranted for 10 years from yellowing. You can wash, wax and polish the surfaces just as your regular paint. Len’s C6 nose “mask” was ~$450 installed.

Drive Your Corvette To Work Day

Fri., June 27 | Marty Hegyi (Product Manager — Hydraulic Cylinders) invited his Bosch Rexroth co-workers to join him with his ‘69 Coupe by driving their special rides on “Drive Your Corvette to Work Day.”

Did you participate at your company? If so, please send your photo.

Chatterbox Corvette Cruise Night by Len Feinberg (‘13)

Fri., July 11 | Mike and Cindy Cutro led a dozen 'Vettes to the Chatterbox (Augusta, NJ) for their monthly Corvette Cruise Night. On the way up, some motorcyclists who appeared to be short on brain cells were passing us while popping wheelies. A few more club members joined us along the way, and there were 22 of us by the time we got to the Chatterbox. If you have never been there, the Chatterbox is a fifties and sixties style drive-in restaurant. The food is good and they have variety of auto memorabilia and other items for their decor. A classic car is on display in the center, and this time it is was a Batmobile replica. After eating and checking out the other Corvettes, we sat around in the shade and solved the world’s problems. Things wrapped up before 8pm and everyone found their way home safely.
Spinnerstown Hotel Lunch

Sat., July 12 | Bonnie Corona coordinated a luncheon at another of our Springfest sponsors—the Spinnerstown Hotel (Spinnerstown, PA). 44 members attended the relaxed luncheon and participated in some lively conversation over drinks before the meals were served to everyone’s delight. Because of the nice weather, we even managed to have an impromptu Corvette show in the parking lot! Thanks, Bonnie, for coordinating this lovely event.

Putt-U, Take 2  by Gary George (‘93)

Wed., July 16 | Our second attempt at playing a round of mini golf was a big success with the June-like weather. The low humidity and mild temperature surely didn't feel like a typical Pennsylvania mid-July. There were 18 Corvettes in the parking lot ranging from C4 to C7 plus a few non-sports cars. Our 38 participating members and some extended family spread out over the two courses. This is in addition to the 8 members that played back in June. A few hole-in-ones were reported but no putt-off was held because we finished so close to closing time. I hope everyone had a good time, and if the interest is still there, we'll do it again next year (hopefully, in 1 take)!
Picnic Directions: Bicentennial Park, East Pavilion

- Follow Rte. 987/Airport Rd. North, approx. 2 miles past ABE Airport.
- Turn LEFT at light onto Snowdrift Road.
- Bear LEFT at stop sign onto Colony Dr.
- Turn RIGHT at stop sign onto Hanover St.
- Turn LEFT at large sign for Bicentennial Park.

The pavilion is atop the hill in the shade. You may drive up the hill to unload car or drop off passengers and then park your car in the parking lot.

Naval OSC Family Day  by Len Feinberg ('13)

Sun., July 20 | 20 Corvettes and their owners showed up to display their cars for Family Day at the Navy Operational Support Center (OSC) in Allentown. At the event, there were a lot of activities for the kids and families including bounce houses, bean bag games, raffle prizes for the whole family, coloring books, a Han-Le-Co fire engine with hoses set up for the kids, and a nice picnic lunch. Participating AACC cars were invited to join in everything, including the lunch. There was plenty to eat with the food being donated by US Foods (Allentown). This year they added a “pie in the face” contest with the top 5 vote winners getting a cream pie facial. The votes were based on donations collected which help fund next year’s Family Day. I asked one of the people in charge if we could donate to it. I thought it would be a nice way to give something back. We raised $175.00 from the club and Marianne Mosher picked that BM-II Quintero (our host) would be the person who got the votes.

The Reservists and their families voted for their favorite Corvette. Results were: 1st, Gary Warmkessel ('65); 2nd, Ron Bauer ('14), and 3rd, Marty Hegyi ('69), which was determined by a coin toss since it was a tie between he and Bernie Blasko ('99). A good time was had by all. Thanks to Chief Marianne Mosher for organizing the Corvette display and to the Reservists for proudly serving our country.

Mecum—SOLD! SOLD! SOLD!  by Marty Hegyi ('69)

Thu-Sun., July 24-27 | The PA Farm Show Complex and Expo Center in Harrisburg, PA was the site for the first northeast location of Mecum Auctions. The Auction was broadcast live on the NBC Sports Network. During the 3-day auto auction, over 1000 vehicles crossed the block including a Corvette Boat and an Army Transport Truck. Cars ranged from a 1976 AMC Pacer to a 2003 Saleen S7, which was bid up to $315K but did not sell.

The top seller was a 1970 Dodge Hemi Coronet R/T 426 C.I./425 HP 4 Speed, for $305K. The highest selling Corvette was a 1967 427/435HP Coupe, which went for $120K.

Laura and I had our sights on a beautiful 1970 Chevelle LS6 convertible but the final bid price of $265K was beyond our reach. Even at that price, the car did not meet the reserve.

Approx. 30,000 people attended Mecum/Harrisburg, including about 10 AACC members who stopped by on Thursday and Friday. We took in all the action over 3 days and if you looked quickly, you may have even caught a glimpse of us on TV. Mecum will be back in Harrisburg again next year.

Chicken Run 2014

Sun., July 27 | In our largest group yet, 57 did the “Chicken Run.” The fiberglass fleet of 35 ‘Vettes took a leisurely pace along Old Route 22 from Fogelsville to Kauffman’s Bar-Be-Que Restaurant in Bethel, PA. We filled their private dining room to near capacity. As Gary George said after lunch, “It was a bad day for chickens,” since the most popular meal choice was Kauffman’s 1/2-chicken platter for $8.75. Following the meal, we headed to — where else — The Shoppes at Premise Maid in Breinigsville (PA) for some ice cream, chocolate and baked goods. When we arrived there, Mecum Auction TV stars, Laura and Marty Hegyi, were on hand to direct us to the available parking spots. Thanks to Jeff Mohring for coordinating the day.

AACC Springfest  by Marty & Laura Hegyi ('69, '07)

To Members of the AACC,

After 3 successful years of running our annual Springfest Corvette show at DeSales University, we have decided that next year’s event will be our last, as Chairpersons. With our existing duties as Membership Chairpersons, Laura’s VP responsibilities and organizing other club events and activities, we feel it is time for “new blood” to take over Springfest in 2016. Since we have almost 200 members in AACC, we would hope that someone would take up the challenge.

The reason we want to announce this now is because:

1. We feel it may take some time for someone to step up and agree to take over Springfest.

2. Laura and I are willing to show the new Chairperson(s) what is involved over the next 10 months in running Springfest.

3. The new Chairperson(s) can “tag along” with us on the day of show at Springfest 2015.

We will continue to support the new Chairperson(s) and their committee as other club members have supported us.

Thank you for your understanding and consideration.

LT4 Engines: Made In KY  by Mitch Talley (CorvetteBlogger.com)

Thu., June 19 | The seventh-generation Corvette continues to generate good economic news for Bowling Green, KY. General Motors said this week it’s [sic] started hiring workers at its Corvette assembly plant there. For the first time since the plant opened in 1981, Bowling Green will be tasked with the assembly of engines, but not just any engines. These are the high-performance motors that will power the company’s latest rocket ships, the 2015 Corvette Z06 and the 2014 Camaro Z/28.

It’s all part of a plan by GM to move its Performance Build Center, where the special engines had been assembled in Wixom, Mich., to the Corvette plant in Kentucky. They’ve already hired 13 new workers, and three others have transferred from Michigan. In all, there could be as many as 17 more new employees, most being hired in the Bowling Green area, needed to run the new engine facility.

“These are new hires, whereas we transferred in almost 400 employees last year for the new (Corvette) C7, who were current GM hourly employees,” plant spokeswoman Andrea Hales said.

They’ll be making some of GM’s most powerful engines ever, including the 6.2-liter LT4 engine that will provide 650 horsepower and 650 ft-lb of torque for the 2015 Corvette Z06 coupe and convertible models that will go on sale late this year or in early 2015. Bowling Green workers have already started producing the 7.0-liter V8 engine that delivers 505 horsepower and 481 ft-lb of torque for the Z/28. In fact, the first engine shipments left Bowling Green in April, and the Z/28 went on sale the next month at a price of $75,000.

The Bowling Green plant has room for the Performance Build Center in the old body shop, which was vacated when a new body shop was built to make the aluminum frame for the C7. Customers also can look forward to the day when they can pay extra to actually build their own engine with the help of GM workers.

“We haven’t yet decided when that program will start,” said Monte Doran, GM’s Corvette and Camaro product specialist. “The intention is there; we just haven’t announced the details yet.”

The standard LT1 V8 that is used in the Corvette Stingray will continue to be built at GM’s engine facility in Tonawanda, N.Y. Tonawanda will also build some of the Z06 engines.

GM Recalls 2014 Stingrays  by Keith Cornett (CorvetteBlogger.com)

Mon., June 30 | GM issued a recall notice for four vehicles, one of which was the 2014 Stingray. Specifically, the potential issue has to do with the rear-shock absorbers in Stingrays with the FE1 or FE3 suspensions. GM says the recall notice affects 1,939 Corvettes total in the US.

Artist and NCRS Contribute to Museum

July 24 | Dana Forrester is not only a well-known Corvette artist, but also a member of the board of the National Corvette Restorers Society and the National Corvette Museum. After the sinkhole occurred at the Museum, Dana had the idea to create a work of art to help raise funds for the Museum.

Last week at the NCRS Convention in Kansas City, the original of Dana's work, "The Resurrection", was auctioned. NCRS Members Richard and Jane Hein were the lucky recipients of the art. Dana and NCRS donated the proceeds of the auction to the Museum - and that amount combined with their previous sinkhole donations brings the total to $26,000 contributed. "We're very proud to have an increasing presence financially with the NCM and hope it continues to escalate," said Dana. "Much of the money collected came from local chapters." Prints of Dana's work can be purchased through the Corvette Store.

Here’s the notice that was issued:

Dealers will replace the two rear shock absorbers in 1,939 2014 model year Chevrolet Corvettes in the U.S. with the FE1 or FE3 suspension to repair a possible insufficient weld in the rear shocks that could lead to a fracture and/or reduce the shocks’ service life. Thirty-three additional vehicles were sold in Canada and another 82 were exported. GM is not aware of any crashes or injuries related to this issue.

All Corvettes Stingrays have either the FE1 or FE3 suspensions. The FE1 RPO code is for the base Stingrays while Corvettes with the Z51 Performance Package have the FE3 suspension. Based on the number of Corvettes being recalled, we assume the issue begins and ends during a certain range of VINs.

This is the third recall for Corvette Stingrays in June and the cumulative total is now at 2,799 Corvettes. At the beginning of June, GM recalled 33 Stingrays for a short circuit in the sensing and diagnostic module that could disable front air bags, safety belt pretensioners and the Automatic Occupancy Sensing module. Two weeks ago, 712 Corvette Stingrays were recalled due to issues with the passenger side airbags in the Competition Sports Seats.

Owners with Corvettes that are caught up in these recalls will receive a letter from General Motors letting them know when they can bring in their vehicles into a dealership for the free repairs.

4 in a Row for the #3 C7.R  by Nigel Dobbie (CorvetteOnline.com)

Wed., July 16 | The #3 Corvette Racing C7.R recorded a remarkable fourth successive victory in the GTLM Class of the Tudor United Sportscar Championship at Canadian Tire Motorsport Park over the weekend. Drivers Antonio Garcia and Jan Magnussen increased their advantage in the drivers championship to 19 points over their nearest rivals. Antonio Garcia qualified the car in second place with a time of 1:15.278 behind a stunning lap from local fan favorite Kuno Wittmer in the #93 SRT Dodge Viper. As per usual, the top eight cars in the GTLM class all qualified within seven-tenths of a second of each other and the #4 Corvette with Olly Gavin at the wheel qualified in fourth place.

Sunday, race day, started with a very wet 20 minute warm-up session, which was stopped twice for cars that ran out of tarmac in the extremely treacherous conditions. It looked as though the race might also be run in similar conditions and for Corvette Racing that could have led to an overall victory as their two Corvette C7.R’s sat proudly on top of the overall timing sheets. This showed once again what a great chassis Corvette Racing has built alongside the excellent Michelin rain tires.

The morning rain eventually abated, and with the help of a strong breeze, the clouds blew away to the east giving way to blue skies and sunshine. By the time the race started, the track was completely dry and slick tires were the order of the day. For all of the teams, the only concern was the fact that the track would now be “green” i.e. all of the rubber deposited the previous days during practice and qualifying had been washed away by the mornings rain. The race as a whole was extremely well driven by all of the drivers, and despite the unknown levels of grip at the start of the race, there were relatively few cars off track and no full course cautions.

The DP, GTLM, and GTD cars were all running, but the PC cars were not. A couple of incidents to report, Tommy Milner in the #4 C7.R Corvette got tagged by Bill Sweedler in the #555 GTD Class Ferrari in the Quebec Corner dropping the Corvette back a couple of places in class. Sweedler had to serve a 45 second stop and hold penalty for the avoidable contact. Then, the GTLM Class leading #93 Viper with Kuno Wittmer at the wheel took to the grass to avoid a slower than expected #56 BMW and as a result destroyed one of the advertising signs and brought a huge amount of dirt and sod onto the track in the process. This let Jan Magnussen in the #3 Corvette C7.R take over the GTLM Class lead where he stayed until the chequered flag.

The second half of the race saw some great battles in all three classes, none more so than the #33 GTD Class Viper driven by Jeroen Bleekemolen who managed to force his way past the Porsche of Kevin Estre on the penultimate lap after the Porsche was pushed wide by the #912 GTLM Class Porsche. The #4 Corvette C7.R struggled in the second half of the race and could only manage eighth place in GTLM.

The overall race went to the #42 OAK Racing Morgan/Nissan that had started from the pole position and was the class of the field. Richard Westbrook in the #90 Spirit of Daytona Corvette DP fought his way back up to second place overall after a terrible pit stop. He then had a great battle with Jordan Taylor who finished third overall in the #10 Wayne Taylor Racing Corvette DP.

The next race for the TUDOR United Sportcar Championship will be at Indianapolis on Friday the 25th of June on the Indy road course. Final note is a get well soon to popular Corvette DP driver Boris Said who crashed heavily in Turn 1 on Friday during practice in the Marsh Racing entry, which was withdrawn from the race because of the heavy crash damage. Please don’t try to make Boris laugh if you see him as he has a broken rib!
2015 Official Pricing by Josh Kirsh (CorvetteOnline.com)

Mon., July 21 | Ladies and Gentleman, prices for the 2015 C7 Corvette have been announced – please lock your tray-tables in the upright position and prepare to spend a little bit more for the car you wanted to buy last year, but wanted to wait another year, just to see if they would come down in price.

The Z51 C7 coupe for the 2015 model year will start at $58,000, while the non-Z51 coupe will start at a mere $53,000 – the Z51 C7 convertible will start at $63,000 and the non-Z51 convertible will start at $58,000. Yes, there are more options available for the 2015 model year and no, we don’t know the pricing information for the long-awaited Z06, but those are probably very soon to follow.

For 2015, the C7’s old six-speed automatic is replaced for the new eight-speed unit that should shift a little bit faster, giving the car a more refined feel. The Performance Data Recorder is also an option for the 2015 model year, as well as the RPO ZF1, which is an appearance package that will make a non-Z51 ‘Vette appear to be a Z51 C7 – the ZF1 package will be $1,995 and the PDR option is available with the navigation option on 1LT and 2LT Corvettes, but is standard on all 3LT models.

What’s interesting is the fact that the NPP exhaust will be offered with the Z51 package for 2015, not an extra $1,995 like it used to be on 2014 models – that’s a savings of $195 on a Z51 coupe or convertible over the outgoing 2014 models. For those that don’t want a 2015, check out your local Chevrolet dealer – word on the street is that they’re trying to get rid of 2014 ‘Vettes that weren’t spoken for, as well as some dealer-ordered cars.

2014 Stingray Sales Figures by Douglas Forinash (CorvetteOnline.com)

Wed., July 23 | This has been a big year for GM as they introduced an all-new and completely redesigned Corvette for the next generation of buyers. Coming from a design like the C6 that featured smooth lines and a more neutral feel, the C7 was a huge diversion from a design standpoint that was either going to sink or swim. With a design like the C7 that features more angular design cues and a more aggressive design in general, it is easy to forget how big of a risk GM actually took with the new design.

They say that with risk comes reward, and for the C7, this expression stands to be very accurate. As the 2014 model year begins to come to a close, it becomes very obvious that the risks GM took taking the Corvette design to the next level have paid off – the C7 has been able to win over enthusiasts and the public in general. At the end of the day however, public opinion and awards do not mean a thing if the vehicle does not sell. Thankfully, according to a post from our friends at CorvetteBlogger, sales figures for the C7 have been much better than expected.

For the 2014 model year, GM has sold a remarkable 17,744 Corvette Stingray coupes and convertibles. What makes this figure even more appealing, is that the rate they have sold 2014 C7s at is considerably higher than the rate at which the C6 sold last year. The C7 has also outpaced the competition – with only 354 SRT Vipers sold this year, 5,169 Porsche 911s, and only 4,114 Nissan 370Zs. Even though the SRT Viper and Porsche 911 are more expensive, they are still competing within the same demographic of affluent, performance enthusiasts.
